Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Monday 12 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Cold and dry overnight. Sunshine and scattered showers on Tuesday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Any remaining showers will ease this evening to become largely clear and dry. Some patchy cloud will remain over eastern areas. A cold night, with frost and a few isolated fog patches forming under clear skies. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Tuesday:
After a cold and bright start, cloud will develop bringing scattered showers from late morning, which could be heavy in places and may contain hail. Skies clearing again overnight. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Largely dry, with the recent pattern of sunny mornings and cloudier afternoons continuing. A few showers possible on Wednesday afternoon though. Gradually becoming milder, though still rather cold overnight.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.